CHANGE ACCELERATION PROCESS NO. BUS605

Change Acceleration Process (CAP) is a change management framework with a set of tools to gauge the political/strategic/cultural environment in the organization and plan for action which will eventually determine how much success a change initiative can bring in within the existing operating boundaries.

This course teaches the CAP by using these seven steps:
1. Leading Change
2. Creating a Shared Need
3. Shaping a Vision
4. Mobilizing Commitment (getting buy-in from stakeholders)
5. Making the Change Last
6. Monitoring Progress
7. Changing Systems and Structures

All implementation projects require a “champion” who sponsors the change if they are to be successful (Leading Change). The reason to change, whether driven by threat or opportunity, is instilled within the organization, and widely shared through data, demonstration, demand or diagnosis. The need for change must exceed the resistance to change (Creating a Shared Need). The desired outcome of change is clear, legitimate, widely understood and shared (Shaping a Vision). There is a strong commitment from key constituents to invest in the change, make it work, and demand and receive management attention (Mobilizing Commitment). Once change is started, it endures, and flourishes and learnings are transferred throughout the organization (Making the Change Last). Progress is real; benchmarks are set and realized; indicators are established to guarantee accountability (Monitoring Progress). Management practices are used to complement and reinforce change (Changing Systems and Structures).

HAVING DIFFICULT CONVERSATIONS CERTIFICATE NO. CER507

When dealing with people, one of the most difficult things we must do is address a problem through feedback. Most people are uncomfortable with giving difficult feedback, especially when it comes to doing this with difficult personality types. However, most problems never go away without confronting them. This course is designed to teach fundamental skills on how to deal with having difficult conversations.

CUSTOMER SERVICE EXCELLENCE CERTIFICATE NO. CER509

Customer Service is not a department. It is a philosophy to be embraced by every employee, from the CEO to the most recently hired. The average company loses up to half of its customers every year due to poor customer service, equating to $75 billion in annual losses. Having well trained and skilled employees who can handle a variety of situations while reflecting a positive image for the company are a true asset. Poor employee behavior or employees who lack customer service skills can damage a company’s reputation.

This course teaches staff how to provide excellent customer service and professional behavior through the following topics:

Customer Support Skills Training: Participants in this course will develop an understanding of company goals and customer expectations for both internal and external customers. They will also learn the importance of telephone etiquette and building rapport with customers.

Corporate Behavior and Customer Service Standards: This course covers the science of behavior and the benefits of customer service standards as they relate to customers and companies. Poor behavior leads to a negative reputation.
Dealing with Difficult Situations: Participants will learn the impact their behavior can have on others, specifically during difficult situations with customers and co-workers. They will learn the importance of getting the upset customer or co-worker to share their dissatisfaction and steps to turn the dissatisfied customer into a satisfied, loyal customer. In addition, they will learn a set of tips in dealing with the stress of dealing with difficult situations.

EMOTIONAL INTELLIGENCE  NO. CER511

Emotional Intelligence Core Components, skills and habits.

In this course, we will explore the three basic skill core components of Emotional Intelligence (EI). The first is emotional awareness—the ability to identify your own emotions and the emotions of others. The second is the ability to harness emotions and apply them to tasks such as thinking and problem solving, and the third is the ability to manage emotions, regulating your own and being able to cheer up others or calm them down when they need it. There are several habits exhibited by emotionally intelligent people. We will review 10 of them and have opportunities to practice them, and receive feedback, during this course: Does your organization understand EI, ten most common habits of EI, identify personal level of EI, additional resources offered to build skills, opportunities to build core skills of EI, increase awareness of EI and impact effectiveness, get real-time feedback regarding EI and ways to track results.

Each participant will receive a report that looks at a person’s emotional intelligence, which is the ability to sense, understand and effectively apply the power and acumen of emotions to facilitate high levels of collaboration and productivity. The report is designed to provide insight into two broad areas: intrapersonal and interpersonal emotional intelligence.

The report measures five dimensions of emotional intelligence: Self-Awareness, Self-Regulation, Motivation, Empathy and Social Skills. The report also gives suggestions on how to improve each of the five dimensions of emotional intelligence.

FACILITY MANAGEMENT CERTIFICATE  NO. BUS600

Our 20-hour, five-session course is perfect for anyone beginning a new role or wanting to learn more about facility management. As companies strive for the most efficient use of staff, business professionals are often filling unfamiliar roles such as managing facilities. This course is designed to give business professionals the basic information and skills needed to manage facilities, a role which could include the following tasks: organizing and administering a department, managing buildings and workspaces, managing a budget, overseeing maintenance and operations, overseeing projects, leasing and purchasing property, facility emergency preparedness, facility security management, facility safety programs and sustainability. Upon completion of this course participants will have the following knowledge:

• How to develop strategies for being proactive rather than reactive
• How to plan to determine priorities and goals that align with anticipated costs and expenditures
• An understanding of the four elements of managing projects—scope, time, quality and budget
• Facility planning and how to create effective corporate workspace
• Workplace requirements to support business needs
• When and how to source facility services
• Related contract management skills
• Purchasing, bidding and negotiating
• Office space systems and technology
• Facility maintenance and repair programs
• Facility management, planning and controls
• How to prepare a facility operating expense budget based on “need”
• How to prepare a capital budget based on facility business requirements

HUMAN RESOURCES FOR THE NON-HR MANAGER  NO. CER505

Employees are often promoted into management roles with little training in human resources, yet managing people is a primary responsibility on which their success depends. If managers do not understand employment laws and concepts such as ADAAA, FCRA, implied contract, BFOQ, protected class, FLSA or discrimination, they may be unintentionally placing their employers at risk. In this course, managers will learn about federal and state employment laws as well as the importance of implementing effective HR practices from employee hiring through separation. Special emphasis will be given to the importance of maintaining a harassment-free, discrimination-free workplace.

CRITICAL CONVERSATIONS WORKSHOP

Oftentimes we are faced with the need to have critical conversations with others that could also be referred to as “difficult discussions”, “important interactions” or even “crucial conversations”. Knowing how to prepare for and conduct these interactions can be critical for a successful outcome. In this USI non-credit training program participants will become equipped with tools to plan for a difficult or critical conversation.

The program is based off key elements from the best-selling book, Crucial Conversations: Tools for Talking When Stakes are High. Critical conversations happen all the time with everyone. Conversations are considered critical when opinions vary, the stakes are high and emotions run strong. Participants will learn how to handle critical conversations in an effective manner rather than avoiding the problem by choosing to go silent.

At the close of this interactive session, participants will be able to:
• Identify the conversations that are keeping them from their desired results
• Speak persuasively not abrasively, no matter the topic
• Make it safe for others to share their honest opinions
• Deal with people who either clam up or blow up
• Gain control of their own emotional responses
• Disagree without being disagreeable
• Influence without exerting force

Success in the workplace is not necessarily tied to how intelligent you are, how many qualifications you hold or even how hard you work. While these traits are important, learning and sharpening your skills are equally important. Career advancement can stall without fine tuning and developing new skills.

These certificates combine in-depth learning with online flexibility. Each certificate requires you to complete 3 to 4 courses and is offered fully online. Learn at your own pace, using quizzes, optional assignments and online discussions to help deepen your understanding. There are no admission requirements.

SOCIAL SECURITY PLANNING FOR BOOMERS  NO. ALP502

After being told for years that Social Security is going broke, baby boomers are realizing that it will soon be their turn to collect. The decisions you make now can have a tremendous impact on the total amount of benefits you stand to receive over your lifetime. This informative seminar covers the basics of Social Security and reveals strategies for maximizing your benefits including: factors to consider when deciding when to apply for benefits; when it makes sense to delay benefits and when it does not; why you should always check your earnings record for accuracy; how to estimate your benefits; how to coordinate benefits with your spouse; how to minimize taxes on Social Security benefits; and how to coordinate Social Security with your other sources of retirement income.

INTRODUCTION TO BEEKEEPING  NO. ALP405

Are you interested in becoming a beekeeper? Or maybe just curious and concerned about the threats to pollinators and want to learn more? Most have heard of the threats facing insect pollinators, in particular honeybees, and want to help by learning more and possibly keeping a hive or two themselves. Getting started with bees is an exciting, yet somewhat daunting, experience. Jumping right in without being prepared, however, can result in failure and expensive mistakes, making the experience something less than enjoyable. In this class we will learn about conservation issues around pollinators, both in general and honeybees in particular, and how we can help. We will cover the various options around the following: honeybee biology, equipment needed, where to get your bees, management approaches, and addressing the main challenges/obstacles to success. The course would be suitable for the complete beginner or the person who has two- or three-years experience and wants to learn more.

Instructor Bio: Brad Smith is the current President of the Beekeepers of Southwest Indiana, the owner/operator of Rock Creek Apiaries, and has been keeping bees for fun for ten years and as a sideline business for the last three years.

BUILDING READING SKILLS  NO. YTH480
Help improve your child’s reading skills with individualized VIRTUAL reading instruction provided by USI teacher candidates enrolled in a Diagnostic Teaching of Reading course and under the supervision of a reading specialist instructor. USI teacher candidates will work with one student each for 12 weeks to provide reading instruction that matches your child’s needs. Emphasis will be placed on informal assessments for instructional value and the components of reading on which Indiana children are tested. This course is designed to assist students reading at or below their current grade level. Each student will be in a separate virtual room with two USI teacher candidates, one as a tutor and one as an observer.

Sessions will last approximately 40 minutes, and guardians are encouraged to be present in the room during the session. Children in the same household should sign up separately to maintain a one-to-one learning environment. Spaces are limited; therefore, enrollment is open to NEW students only at this time, and a commitment to attend all sessions is expected. Returning participants may be placed on a waiting list, if interested, by emailing outreach@usi.edu.

Participants must have a computer or tablet with a camera, microphone and speaker, and a dedicated, reliable internet connection.

COLLEGE ACHIEVEMENT PROGRAM
The University of Southern Indiana’s College Achievement Program (CAP) offers dual credit to outstanding junior and senior students in more than two dozen area high schools. Through CAP, students meet high school graduation requirements and earn college credits, all while in their high school classroom during the regular school day. CAP courses are taught by high school instructors who meet the same criteria as USI adjunct faculty, and more than 35 courses in English, history, biology, chemistry, economics, foreign language, health professions, journalism and math are available. Many CAP courses transfer easily utilizing the Indiana Core Transfer Library (CTL) and fulfill the Academic Honors Diploma. Most CAP courses are on the dual credit priority list and cost $25/credit hour. The College Achievement Program is one of only seven concurrent enrollment programs in Indiana accredited by the National Alliance of Concurrent Enrollment Partnerships (NACEP) and one of 116 accredited programs in the nation.

Visit USI.edu/cap, or e-mail cap@usi.edu for further information.

Disability Accommodations: If disability-related accommodations are required, contact Outreach and Engagement at 812-464-1989 or email at Outreach@usi.edu. It is recommended that you make this request at the earliest possible date to ensure that requested accommodations are in place when needed.

Refund Policy: Registration fees are refundable in full, less a 15% service charge and the cost of materials, until the start of the second class session. No refunds can be made after the start of the second session.

USI Alumni Discount: When USI alumni enroll in a noncredit course at USI they receive a 10% discount on the price of the course. To receive the discount, at the time of registration alumni must identify the year they received a USI degree. The discount does not apply to some certificate programs or to conferences held off the USI campus. Call Outreach and Engagement at 812-464-1989 or 800-467-8600 for more information.
