

EDIC award Evaluation Rubric
Criteria	Superior	Good	Fair	Poor or missing
	4	3	2	1
The proposal's synopsis clearly and succinctly describes the project and its relation to diversity, equity, inclusion and/or social justice.
The proposal includes an innovative approach to scholarship, teaching, and/or service that clearly connects to diversity, equity, inclusion and/or social justice.
The proposal indicates how this project fits within their scholarly expertise and clearly states a meaningful relationship with diversity, equity, inclusion and/or social justice
The proposal contains a detailed timeline and outcomes for completion of this project. If part of a larger project, the timeline includes how this section will be completed during the award period.
The applicant is early career faculty and/or faculty who have had fewer opportunities for reassigned time.
The proposal indicates the significance of the project to the applicant's scholarly agenda and professional progress.
The application includes all elements of the submission including curriculum vitae, chair letter, and follows the formatting guidelines of the grant.
Total Points

Failure to follow format and organizational guidelines will result in an automatic rejection of the proposal.